Hand produced finishes for a key point of difference

As one of the oldest and one of the few companies who still use the old Artisan methods, Cadorin produce boards with finishes that are unsurpassed. With beautiful, hand-done finishes, the Cadorin range of products is sure to provide Australian architects, designers and developers with a key point of difference.

“Australians love their timbers. Much of the Cadorin range has been created to replicate the allure of almost natural, untreated timbers, which is difficult to produce and bound to appeal.”

Internationally patented gold leaf timber

Cadorin not only provide exceptional, high quality timbers and finishes, they have also created a completely unique, internationally patented product with a gold, silver or copper leaf through it. The ‘GOLD Planks’ range can be supplied with a finish of genuine gold leaf in 12-24 karat or a finish of Gold Dust, and can be accompanied by a certificate of origin for the gold. The precious finishes bring a sense of luxury and warmth, and beautifully reflect the light.

“The gold, silver and copper leaf timber is incredibly unique. I’m excited to see what our most talented designers can create. These products challenge them to re-think what is possible with timber.”

Environmentally focussed

With all their products, Cadarin pride themselves on their holistic approach to producing timber, with dedication from start to finish. They carefully assess the impact of their work on the ecosystem by using production methods that respect the principles of ethics and respect for both man and nature.

“One of the things that we found really impressive with Cadarin is that their products are completely formaldehyde free, they only use natural oils, they use vinyl glues that are completely non-toxic, and they source most of their timber Oks, all sustainable, all sourced locally.

With a range of beautiful finishes, colours and sizes, Cadarin’s range of timber compliments Style Timber’s existing product catalogue. Style Timber Floor research global trends and select the most exciting and unique ranges to bring to the Australian market. Style Timber’s aim is to inspire and deliver the best to lovers of timber, and the Cadarin range of Italian made timber planks is sure to delight and inspire.

About Cadarin

For more than 100 years, we have been transforming wood with Love, Art, Dedication and Mastery. Our passion for wood and our work is a family tradition, jealously guarded and handed down from father to son. Grandfather Giosue used to make carts and barrels, as well as running a saw mill. His son, Delfino, joined the business at the age of 18, increasing production with furniture, fittings, wood floors, doors and other wooden components.

The grandchildren, Claudio and Rita Cadarin, have been running the company for over 20 years and it has grown both in size and production capacity, whilst continuing with its artisan methods. Today, Cadarin is renowned for its production of three layer solid wood planks, which is has pioneered, but also for its wide range of structures and dimensions of wood floors, as well as tiles and modules displaying expert craftsmanship, both structurally and aesthetically.
